About Ms. Flavia Agnes and organization Majlis:

Flavia Agnes is an eminent legal scholar and is well-known for her work on legal reforms. She is a pioneer of the movement on women's rights in India. She has numerous publications to her credit, including books, analyzing women's rights and issues of gender and identity in the context of the legal system. She is the co-founder of Majlis, a major legal and cultural resource centre that has provided assistance to women in matrimonial and criminal litigations over the past two decades and more. The organization also imparts training to different sections of the community on legal rights of women; the mission is to create a culture of rights and help women across class and community access justice.
